A mountain of SNOW

The abundance of snow in Les Saisies is a testament to the generosity of Mother Nature, corroborated by scientific data. While the resort looks to the future with optimism, it is also mindful of the challenges that lie ahead. As a result of collective efforts in sustainable development and the pursuit of ecological, economic and social transition, Les Saisies was awarded the coveted Flocon Vert certification by the association Mountain Riders. Looking forward, the resort is collectively striving to ensure the sustainability of skiing and ultimately achieve carbon neutrality. Meanwhile, holidaymakers continue to enjoy the Savoyard resort and its 360° views of the Aravis mountains, the Beaufortain range and its majestic neighbour, Mont-Blanc. Located on a vast plateau, at an altitude of 1,650 metres, Les Saisies boasts picture-postcard scenery, excellent snow cover and plenty of sunshine.

A Savoyard SNOW RESERVE

The altitude, exposition and proximity to Mont-Blanc are combined factors conducive to good snow in Les Saisies. Reputed as the “snow reserve”, Les Saisies boasts as much snow as the higher altitude resorts. What's more, the resort requires as little as thirty centimetres of snow to cover the well-tended mountain pastures.

According to the French Met Office, since 1982 the average snowfall in the Beaufortain and Val d'Arly is greater than in the surrounding mountains and more or less the same as 10 years ago: 456 cm of snow last winter compared with 478 cm in 2013-2014, for an average of more than 120 days of guaranteed skiing per season!

WITH MICHAEL TESSARD,
DIRECTOR OF THE SPL SKI AREA
MANAGEMENT COMPANY IN LES SAISIES.

What are the impacts of global warming?

The climate is changing: + 1.5°C on average in France over the past 12 months. In the mountains, temperature inversions are increasingly pronounced, often colder in the valley than at higher altitudes. Frequent high-pressure fronts prevent us from making snow regularly. To do so a maximum temperature of - 2°C is required. Furthermore, the rain-snow limit has a tendency to rise, with heavy precipitations, forcing us to adapt our grooming periods to avoid damaging the existing snow cover.

What are the consequences for Les Saisies?

Les Saisies boasts a privileged configuration with snow coverage worthy of high-altitude resorts. We are witnessing a transfer of customers to Les Saisies from medium-altitude resorts in neighbouring mountain ranges, especially at the start and end of the season. Like the higher resorts, we use snowmakers to secure the natural snowcover. Global warming appears to be reducing the number of cold weather spells. It is therefore extremely important to use our snowmakers when conditions permit. Our energy management system and the use of data from the French Met Office on our software, enables us to produce the right amount of snow whilst reducing our use of electricity.

What are the forecasts for the future?

At present, approximately 1 season in 5 suffers from a natural snow deficit. According to our forecasts, this phenomenon is likely to accelerate to 1 in 2 seasons by 2050. Nevertheless, the latest Climsnow study, carried out in 2022, predicts that Les Saisies is set to ensure 130 days skiing per annum based on the existing snowmaking facilities and its microclimate - the envy of many!

How do you manage investments?

Today, a new ski lift - financed over a 15-year period and fully depreciated over a 20-year period - boasts a lifespan of 30 to 40 years. Our public service delegation contract, that runs until 2049, englobes investment in the modernisation of our facilities. In view of recent surveys for the future, such as the Climsnow report, we are committed to the modernisation of our higher altitude lifts (Douce-Grattary this year), including those dedicated to beginners (Verdets drag lift in 2023). In parallel, we continue to diversify our activities and launch new projects: 4-season tobogganing (2009), Balcon sur le Mont-Blanc (2020) and Le Parc des Elfes (2022).

GREENER horizons

IN NOVEMBER 2023, LES SAISIES WAS AWARDED THE FLOCON VERT CERTIFICATION BY THE ASSOCIATION MOUNTAIN RIDERS - REWARDING THE DESTINATION'S COMMITMENT TO SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT, ECOLOGICAL, ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL TRANSITION.

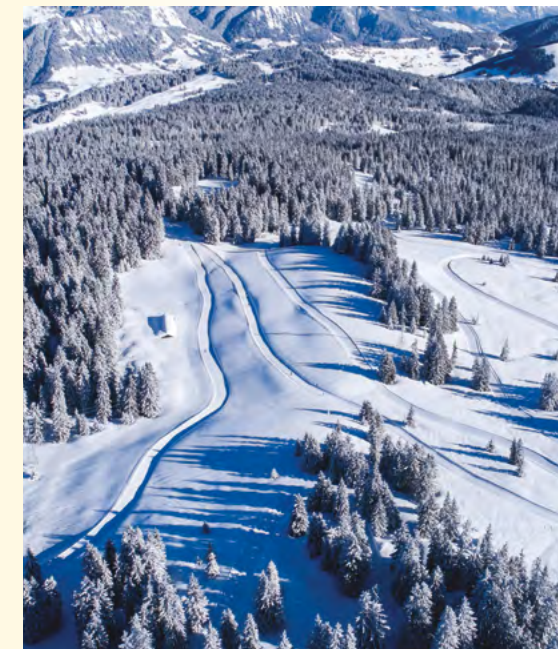

The SIVOM des Saisies, the villages of Hauteluce and Villard sur Doron, the SAEM Les Saisies Villages Tourisme and the SPL Domaines Skiabes des Saisies are collectively committed to the protection and promotion of the region's natural and cultural heritage in 4 key actions:

- › The control of urban development and land artificialisation.
- › The decarbonisation of activities, targeting mobility and energy efficiency.
- › The diversification of activities in a manner that allows for year-round operation (4-season mode).
- › The enhancement of local life for both residents and visitors, as well as the promotion of active civic participation.

"The preservation of our mountains represents a collective challenge that will serve future generations. The Flocon Vert certification is not the be all and end all; it represents the initial phase of a new approach to development designed to foster collaboration amongst those involved".

Jean-Luc Combaz,
CHAIRMAN OF THE SIVOM
DES SAISIES.

RECYLED LIFTS!

Built in 2005, using parts from the old Chard du Beurre chairlift, the V-shaped Douce-Grattary lift- linking Notre Dame de Bellecombe to Praz-sur Arly - is currently undergoing transformation to enhance safety and increase speed.

New, yes, but partly recycled! The V has been removed to separate the two lifts. Douce has been rebuilt as a brand new 6-seater chairlift whilst Grattary, which remains a 4-seater, has been modernised using components from the dismantled Douce-Grattary lift. These modifications, to enhance the user experience and ensure optimal safety, are completed with the installation of a boarding mat.

Did you know?

The latest national carbon assessment for ski resorts estimates that skiing results in an output of 49.07 kg CO₂ per day, the equivalent to 7 km travelled by car. The transportation of visitors to the resort accounts for 57% of this figure.

The report, published in 2009 by ADEME and ANMSM (Association Nationale des Maires de Stations de Montagne), focused on ten French ski resorts.

*By way of comparison, agriculture accounts for 21% in national statistics.

ECO-CONCIOUS FAMILY HOLIDAYS

ALL-INCLUSIVE PACKAGE

Explora Project has chosen to set up a family base camp in Les Saisies. Snowshoe outings following in wild animal tracks (with pulkas to pull the little ones), igloo building, biathlon, evening torch-lit excursions, farm visits, an introduction to the rudiments of survival and bivouacking in the great outdoors are just some of the activities on offer.

After each adventure, return to a cosy and comfortable renovated farmhouse. Your accommodation comprises: four double bedrooms with ensuite bathrooms, a children's dormitory, a jacuzzi and hammam. Because a family holiday should be a true holiday, someone from Explora Project is on site all week to take care of the housekeeping. Families can, if they choose to, join in the cooking and learn how to prepare a real cheese fondue!

ECO-BONUS: Explora Project offsets 100% of its carbon emissions, equivalent to 14.14 kg per participant per day, via reforestation and forest preservation programmes.

Prices from: €810/ child and €890/adult, inclusive of accommodation, meals and activities. From 9 to 15 participants, age 3 upwards. More information at explora-project.com

STAR TABLE

LE MONT BLANC RESTAURANT & GOÛTER

Benoit Goulard, who trained as a pastry chef, has been awarded his first star by the Michelin guide. His eco-responsible, modern and instinctive sweet and savoury cuisine is based on the finest seasonal produce, locally sourced and prepared on the premises. Together with his partner Hélène Fleury, they have given a new lease of life to a former 19th century hostellerie, once an inn, then a café, a bar and now a Michelin-star eatery! An address to be enjoyed without moderation, for lunch, dinner or afternoon tea! Take away dishes and cakes available during the festive season.

Food sources: cheese from the Val d'Arly cooperative, vegetables from Croc 'local and Jardins des Solstices, local Hauteluce honey from Léa Braisaz's apiary, goat's cheese from Caroline Joguet and fish from the Lake Léman fishmonger, Éric Jacquier.

The restaurant proposes surprise menus in two variants:

- the 5 course Circus Menu. Price €100
- the 7 course Bélène Menu. Price €140.

Wine pairings are also available, priced at €50 for four 10 cl glasses or €60 for five 10 cl glasses. The establishment boasts a choice of over two hundred different wines, lending a particular emphasis on local varieties.

Open for dinner, Wednesday to Sunday. Afternoon tea available, Thursday to Sunday, from 2.00 pm to 5.30 pm. More information at www.montblanc-restaurant.com

ECO-CONSCIOUS SNOW QUEEN

Les Saisies has been making eco-friendly practices a priority for years, long before the results of its carbon assessment. Since 2018, the resort has been rewarded on numerous occasions for its eco-grooming initiatives. Take, for example, Eden, age 24, vice French champion in snow grooming and the only female member of a team of 17 professional groomers in Les Saisies. At the helm of her 12-tonne vehicle, Eden works the snow in the glow of her headlights, meticulously applying the knowledge she acquired from her parents (retired snowgroomers) and her specific eco-grooming training: take your foot off the pedal, groom downhill rather than up, repeat operations twice to push large quantities of snow, reduce the amount of time the machine is out of action and adapt the width of the slopes to the number of people on them. According to Eden, "the role is unique and enjoyable, an opportunity to encounter wildlife and admire the sunset."

THE HISTORY OF LES SAISIES ON SNOWSHOES

August 1944: 899 containers were parachuted over the Col des Saisies mountain pass. Legend has it that the 900th container was never found. Years later, a mysterious message signed "Rudy" appeared in historical records. To solve this mystery, hikers are invited to embark on the "Sentier des Crêtes" snowshoe trail to discover 5 key periods in the history of the resort. To assist budding detectives, a series of wooden huts - each housing a different character - are the key to the puzzle. To listen to each story, simply crank the handle!
